meet, learn, serve

Serving Guidelines

Firm believer and disciple of Jesus Christ

Worship leaders are not meant to step on a stage and morph into the next great head-banger. Worship and performance are different, which means we're not there to show off our ability. Our sole aim as worship leaders is to magnify and point people to the greatness of Jesus Christ. We can not do this if we are not actively loving and seeking Him for ourselves. Collective requires any leaders that serve under its banner to be a firm believer, disciple, and follower of Jesus Christ.

Plugged into and serving within a local church

Collective is not a church, rather, it is an extension of and partner to it. It is not to be used to bypass membership and involvement in a local body, nor is it meant to usurp them. We come alongside and build up our local churches, and because of this, Collective requires any leaders that serve under its banner to be actively involved in a local church body.

Recommendation from worship pastor/minister

Collective is a volunteer worship ministry, it is entirely to the discretion of each leader their level of involvement. However, when one decides to serve, they are a continual reflection of not only Collective, but our Lord. Because of this, Collective seeks to ensure the integrity of those involved by receiving a recommendation from each leader's resident worship pastor/minister before they serve.

Musical Evaluation

Hirings are not made without ensuring that the individual up for the position is capable of carrying out the duties involved. Simply put, before leaders serve with Collective, there must be an evaluation of ability. If you're interested in serving with Collective, reach out to any of our team members for more information!
